

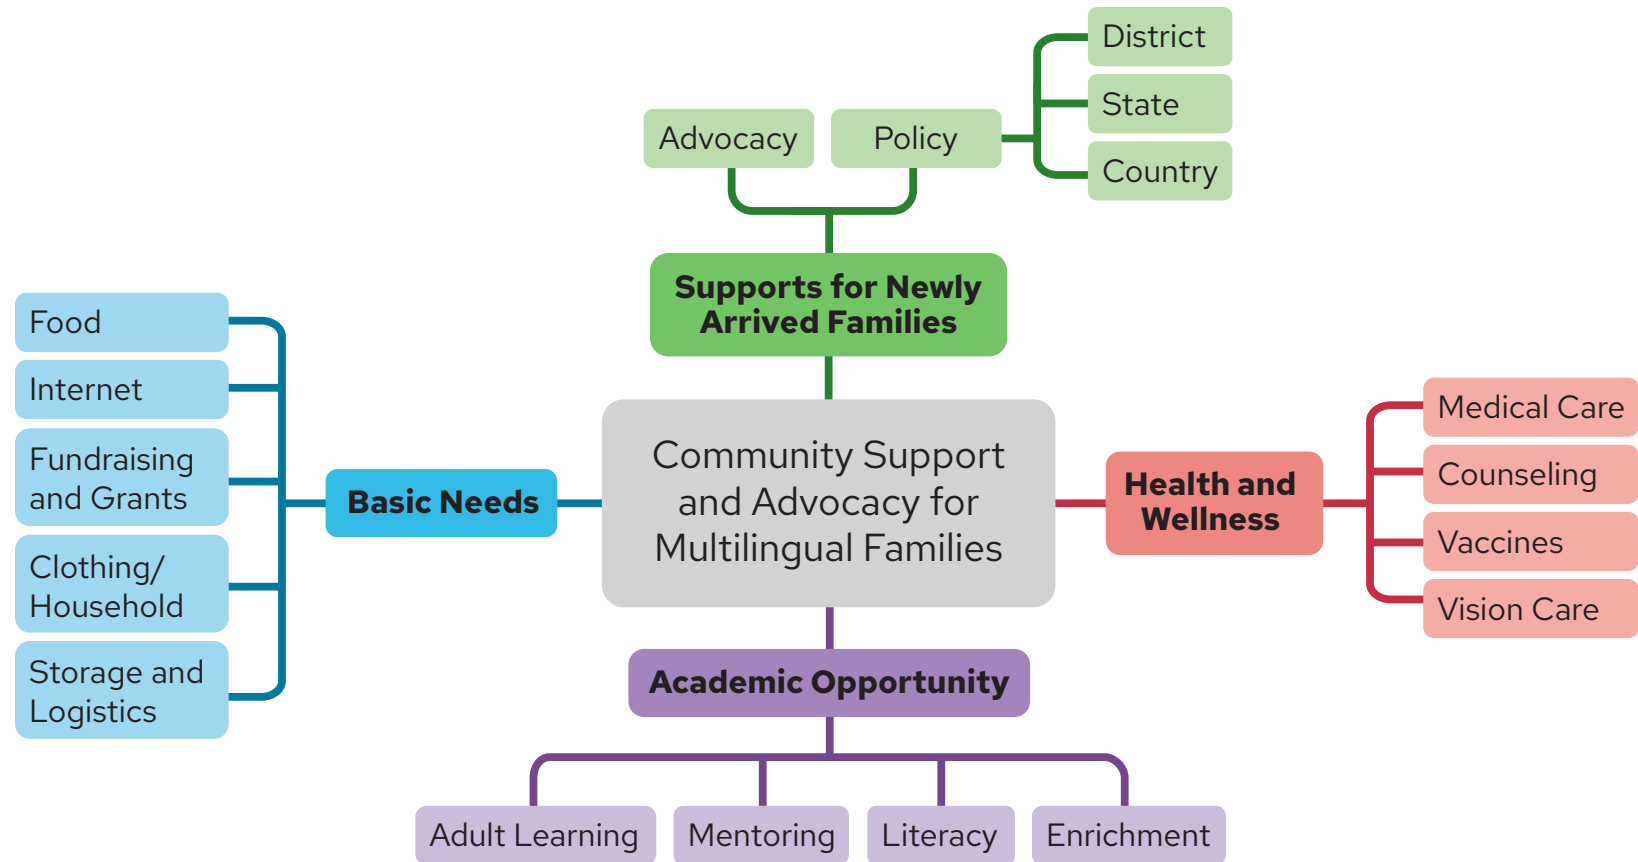

Mapping Community Assets and Resources

Collaborate with multilingual families, community members, and community organizations to identify and map the assets and resources available in your community. This collaborative effort will help you build a stronger support network with multilingual students and their families. Use the sample map provided as a guide to inform your approach and help you get started.

Adapted from: Brereton, J., & Leech, A. M. (2024, October 16). Community engagement and advocacy for multilingual students and families. WIDA Annual Conference, Pittsburgh, Pa.